

Astin Consulting

Christina Astin, Partnerships Consultant

Christina was Founder-Chair of the Schools Together Group and Head of Partnerships at The King's School, Canterbury after more than 20 years teaching and leading science. She now provides bespoke partnerships consultancy, including helping schools to write and implement impactful partnership strategies. She leads training courses and offers a range of support to partnership practitioners and school leaders.

www.astinconsulting.com

Workshops

Bespoke training in your school for those with partnerships overview: strategic planning, impact measurement and communications.

Consultancy

Flexible support as needed: occasional advice, mentoring or regular consultancy; from audit and strategy to project management and impact analysis.

Strategy

I can help you get started by creating a partnership strategy for your school to align with your development plan, with built-in impact evaluation.

Everything is tailored to your needs and costed accordingly, so do get in touch for a quote. All services are available face-to-face or virtually.

An exemplar of professionalism, Christina is wise, measured, organised, efficient, extraordinary—it has been exciting and fulfilling to work alongside her, as part of the Steering Committee in the organisation she founded so presciently—The Schools Together Group.

Sarah Butterworth, Community Partnerships Director, Highgate School

Christina is a highly skilled communicator, experienced and inspirational project manager, creative and determined leader and passionate educator. Over many years, I have seen her innovate and create opportunities, inspiring confidence and sharing her expertise generously. Christina pursues excellence in all she does and is able to draw on a wide network and wealth of experience.

Leo Winkley, Headmaster, Shrewsbury School

